London, August 23.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from France, and a Mail from Flanders.

From the Bruss. Gaz. and Hague Cour. Aug. 27.
From the Imperial Camp before Belgrade, Aug. 6.

SINCE the 3d till now, the Enemy have continued to fire upon us with 150 Pieces of Cannon out of their Retrenchments, which is but Musket Shot from our Lines, whereby however they have not kill'd above 100 of our Common Soldiers and 13 Officers. General Revel who was said to be dead, is so well of his Wound, that there is Hopes of his Cure, even without cutting off his Leg. The Count d'Estrades Gouvernour of the Prince de Dombes, has lost his left Foot by a Cannon-Ball, and the same Bullet kill'd a Page of the Prince's. We on our Side are not in Debt to the Enemy, for we have by our Bombs set Fire to a Magazine in the Town, of Gunpowder, with some Thousands of Grenadoes and Bombs; as also, to a Magazine of Provisions. It being observ'd that the chief Fire from the Enemy's Camp, was bent upon the Head Quarters, the Quarters of the principal Generals, and our Magazine of Gunpowder, the Situation whereof some Deserters had undoubtedly told them of; the Bavarian Princes and other principal Persons have remov'd their Quarters, and a Magazine of 2000 Centenaries of Gunpowder and 2000 fill'd Bombs have been remov'd into a Place of more Security. But Prince Eugene would not remove his Tent, having only caus'd some Earth to be cast up before it. Some thousands of Janizaries came on Monday under our Line, as if they would attack it, but went off without attempting any thing. The same Day we received Advice, that the Enemy having three times attack'd our Post of Media, and lost 3000 Men kill'd or wounded before it, had at last obliged the Garrison to surrender upon Capitulation; who were accordingly conducted to Temeswaer, being 400 Men, besides 300 sick and wounded. General Viard is march'd to Lugas, with the two Regiments of Sultzbach and Monteculoli, to observe the Enemy's Detachment of 30 or 40000 Men in the District of Temeswaer. The Besieged attempted to Erect a new Battery without the Suburbs, but the General Count Merci, and the Prince of Bevren, at the same time took Post in the Palanks, with 10 Battalions, 12 Companies of Grenadiers, and a good Number of Carbineers and Cuirassiers, together with 4 or 500 Workmen, and open'd Trenches there without loosing a Man. And now a Battery of 30 Mortars and 24 Pieces of Cannon is raising which will To-morrow be ready to play upon that part of the Town also. We have also taken Post in the Water Town, which together with the Castle are almost intirely destroy'd, and resemble a great heap of Stones. According to the Report of Deserters, the Bread, Meat, Salt, and other Provisions that were in the Town, are either consum'd or destroy'd by our Fire, insomuch that Horse Flesh is sold at a great Price. And for four Nights past, the Besieged have fired off Rockets, which are the Signals they give the Grand Vizier of the Distress they are in.

The following Paper is printed by Authority at Brussels.

Advice of the great Victory obtain'd by the Arms of his Imperial and Catholick Majesty, which has been sent to his Excellency the Marquis de Prié.

Brussels, Aug. 27. At four this Afternoon arrived Don Pablo Ximenez, dispatch'd from the Imperial Court, to bring to his Excellency the Marquis de Prié, the happy News of a signal Victory, obtained by the Arms of his Imperial and Catholick Majesty, under the Command of his most ser're Highness the Prince Eugene of Savoy over the Ottoman Army, who were forc'd in their own Retrenchments, that were fortifyed by a treble Line of a prodigious Number of Artillery. His Highness having made his Dispositions the 15th Instant, caused 30000 Foot whom he chose for that Purpose, to march out of the Lines the following Night, under the Favour of a thick Fog which had lasted all Day, and depriv'd the Enemy of the Sight of them, but dispers'd at Break of Day. These Troops advanc'd unperceiv'd to the Foot of the Turkish Retrenchments, and attack'd them immediately with so much Order and such Vigour, that notwithstanding the extraordinary Resistance which the Enemy made, and the Superiority of their Number, which 'tis pretended amounted to 150000 Men, they got over the said Retrenchments, repuls'd their Infantry many times, and in fine, put them to a precipitate Flight; and thereby became Masters of all their Camp, their Tents, their Chancery, Baggage, Provisions, and all their numerous Artillery. This great and memorable Action lasted from Break of Day till the Evening. After this entire Defeat, the Prince caus'd 30000 Horse to march in their Pursuit, which gives Hope, that the rest of their Infantry, (whereof 20000 Janizaries were left kill'd upon the Field of Battle) will be destroy'd or intirely dissipated, having no Place to retreat to till they come to Semendria, which is 6 Leagues from Belgrade. This joyful News was brought the 19th Instant, by the Lieutenant Field Marshal Count Hamilton, to his Imperial and Catholick Majesty.

The same Paper continues.

Brussels, Aug. 28. This Morning at 11 a-Clock arriv'd an Expres to the Prince de laTour and Tassis, who came from Vienna the 22d Instant, with the News, that the Count de Rabutin, preceeded by 6 Postillions blowing Horns, was just arriv'd, and had brought Advice to his Imperial and Catholick Majesty, that on the 19th the Turks in Belgrade had capitulated, and that the Conditions of the Capitulation were the same that were granted last Year to Temeswaer, except that the Hungarian Rebels, and Deserters from the Imperial Army, shall be deliver'd up to the Imperialists.

From another Relation Printed at Brussels by Authority.

Brussels, Aug. 26. Letters from Venice of the 14th Instant advise, that an Expres arrived there the 10th by the way of Otranto, with Letters from the Sieur Capello Captain of the Galeasses, written at Zante the 25th of July, and from the Chevalier Antonio Loredano Proveditore General of the Islands, dated at Corfu the 28th of the same Month, which Relate that the Venetian Fleet being between Calamata and Coron in the Morea, took on the 17th, an Advice-Boat dispatched to the Ottoman Fleet, which was at Anchor in the Road of Modon; by the Seamen whereof the Captain General was informed, that this Boat was followed by a Convoy of six large Saicks, laden with Soldiers, Provisions and Ammunition for the Turkish Fleet, guarded by two Men of War. Upon which Advice the Captain General sent out part of the Fleet to lie in wait and surprize that Convoy, which they had full Success in the 18th, when that Convoy fell into the Venetian Squadron, which they mistook for Turkish. The Captain General made Salvo's of Cannon and Musketry for this Prize, which put the Captain Bassa into such Concern, that he weighed Anchor the 19th in the Morning to retire; but the Venetian Fleet having the Advantage of the Wind, pursued the Enemy so close, that they cut off 18 Sultana's of the Line, which were all either sunk, burnt, or taken; and when these Letters came away, they were in Pursuit of the rest. The Senate were in Expectation of an ample Relation of this Action, from the Captain General.

From the Paris News Letter.

Paris, Aug. 28. Yesterday arrived here three Couriers, who have brought the agreeable News, that that on the 16th Prince Eugene attack'd the Turkish Army, and forc'd them to abandon their Camp, all their Baggage and their Tents, and that the Imperialists have taken 200 Pieces of Cannon. The 3d Courier has brought Advice, that Belgrade had capitulated. We expect the Particulars. The Turks have lost 100000 Men.

They write from Marseilles the 14th Instant, that a Ship of that Port being arriv'd there from Messina, reports, that at his Departure from that Port, the Spanish Squadron was in the Channel between Reggio and Spartivento, cruizing upon the Coast of the Kingdom of Naples, and that several Ships belonging to that Squadron were enter'd into the Mole of Messina.
